

Transfers, Shop-Over Benefits Available

Bus transfer benefits and "shop-over" privileges for persons living and traveling in the South Bay area began Sunday under innovation of the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

Made financially feasible by a five-cent transfer charge, the change includes the conversion from interurban to local status of the Los Angeles International Airport-Redondo Beach Line 51 serving El Segundo, Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach, Redondo Beach, Palos Verdes and International Airport.

Line 51 passengers are now able to transfer to all local lines by purchasing the new five-cent transfer instead of paying an entirely new 25-cent fare.

In addition, South Bay passengers who must make shop-over stops on local RTD lines before continuing their transit trips will be permitted to board the bus again with a five-cent transfer, instead of paying a new fare.

Twenty-three other bus lines will now connect with Line 51, providing transfer connections at many new points enroute between the South Bay and Los Angeles.

Honor Oldsters

Senior Citizens throughout Los Angeles County will be honored Saturday, April 29, during the second annual Older Americans Recognition Day. Special programs have been planned at the Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"Who designed Julie Christie's dress on the Oscarcast? An Englishman or an American? I'm hoping it wasn't one of ours."

The guilty party's nationality has not been divulged. In either case it is someone who hates her.

"It is getting more and more difficult to find a television show underneath the stack of introductions, local commercials, ads for coming attractions and station identifications. All these in addition to the usual commercial interruptions. When will someone realize how bad this is and stop it?"

The interference you talk about is called "clutter" in TV lingo and ABC is currently waging a war to clean it up. On the other hand NBC is seeking to extend the number of blurbs. Last year ABC wanted more commercials, this year less. The local network affiliated stations always want more. Lots of talk but little action expected.

"Who is Arnold Zenker, the newscaster who replaced Walter Cronkite during the recent strike? He's cute."

He's a Wilmington, Del., disc jockey who studied law and got his degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

He was employed in the administrative department of management as a substitute for Cronkite. More disc jockeys should study law.

"What did Humphrey Bogart get an Oscar for?"

Best actor, 1951, in "The African Queen."

"Is the Geraldine Page in the movie, 'You're a Big Boy Now' the same actress who was in Truman Capote's Christmas story? It seems hard to believe."

Geraldine Page can play anything and make you believe her. She was in both shows.

"Are they really going to kill off James Bond?"

The only thing that will kill off James Bond is hardening of the arteries. There's a new Sean Connery version out soon and NBC plans to promote it with a special TV feature titled "Welcome to Ja-

More than that, it makes Burr look silly. There are some people who can do a good job while hitting the bottle, but there's no one who couldn't do a better job sober. Of course, Burr DOES WIN all his cases . . . Otherwise it's nothing more than a plug for a square bottle of bourbon with a black label. No one but a television producer could drink that much without effect. Even in a wheelchair. But if Burr-and-bourbon ever engages in a gunfight, I'd feel safer as the criminal than as a bystander.

Educators Win Seats on Board

Three Torrance educators have been elected to the board of directors of Educare, a 500-member support group for the USC School of Education.

They are William J. Johnston of 112 Via Sego, Albert N. Posner of 1708 Iris Ave., and Elaine Gourley of 20856 Christine Ave.

Nursing Program To Begin

Applications for a vocational nursing program at El Camino College are being accepted at the College. The program is scheduled to get under way July 31.

The 12-month course will prepare students for the state examination for a license in vocational nursing. An additional year of study will be required of those students who wish to earn an associate in arts degree.

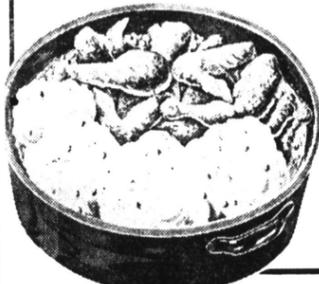

Applications are available in the counseling and admissions offices at the college, as well as in the Department of Nursing office. Forty-five trainees will be selected for the first class.

Both men and women are eligible for the program. Miss Margaret Brant, coordinator of nursing at the college, said,
